Kingfishers’ Anti-bullying Week Newsletter

Our themes were respect and kindness

Acts of Kindness

Kingfishers enjoyed learning about the importance of respecting each other and felt the power of being kind. We drew around our hands and wrote an act of kindness that we would carry out over the next week to some lucky person! Already, children in our class have been very kind to each other, in the playground, and it has made us feel much better.

Odd Socks

All week, we wore odd socks to show that we are unique and can respect each other’s differences. Also, we listened to and learnt a fantastic song called ‘Choose Respect’ by Andy and the Odd Socks. It’s a lot of fun dancing to it too!

Cirque Berserk

This was an exciting and creative workshop where we role played difficult situations and found ways to resolve them. We thought of many words to show what we thought ‘respect’ means, like teamwork and resilience. At the end, we made a carousel with music.

Handwriting

Even in handwriting, we made some inspiring sentences using the words ‘respect’, ‘kindness’, ‘choice’ and ‘power’. Renay wrote, ‘I like to choose kindness.’ Jasmine wrote, ‘I have the power to not be bullied.’ Lily wrote, ‘I respect kindness; I believe in its power.’

Bunting

Our colourful bunting shows that we like different things and that we have signed the anti-bullying charter. We promise to try our best to be kind and respectful towards each other.
